Headline:
Slowly turning cloudier.

Today:
A cold start. Decent amount of sunshine in the south but turning increasingly cloudy in the north with the odd shower. Feeling cool with temperatures around average for November. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Tonight:
Cloud building everywhere overnight with the outside chance of some drizzle under thickest cloud. The cloud keeping it milder than recent nights with only a local frost under any breaks. Minimum temperature 3 deg C (37 deg F).

Wednesday:
A cloudy start to Wednesday. Brief bright spells developing through the morning, but a band of thicker cloud reaches the north and west in the afternoon, bringing outbreaks of rain. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Brighter, breezier, and colder again on Thursday. Then becoming unsettled on Friday and Saturday with periods of strong winds and rain, also continuing to feel rather cold.
